fleet, formeily running in the line between Boston and St. Johns, N. B., and called the Easter's City, but now owned by the Govern, ment, with name changed as above. As we have all acceded to Gen. Burnside's last request, I am to-day able to give you only a comparatively few items of a general character.

The day I mentioned in my last as the day of departure. January 5th, is drawing near, and the expedition will be fully ready to depart on that day. Whether it will, or not, am convinced, depends on orders from Washington.

The fleet of transports, store-ships, as well as the floating batteries and several of the gunboats (or armed troop-ships), are now all inths. harbot, occupying the channel of the Severn River, all the way from the LightHouse to a point tow miles up stream. The whole number of vessels connected with the expedition now here, is fifty-two, of which twenty-two are steemers and tug-boats, five are floating batteries, and the balance sailing vessels, which will be used for earrying troops, being taken in tow by the steamers. You can therefore judge of the formidable character of the expedition, as the vessels now here do not include as the vessels now her and are therefore properly classed among the transports, though the rebels will have few more formidable customers to encounter, even from among the regular navy.

The ressel that stiracts the most attention

The resid that attracts the most attention is the steamer Picket, the flag-ship of Gen Burnside, pa which himself and staff will soon take up their quarters. She is a small, screw propeller, or rather tug, not as large as the Levisthan on Lake Michigan. She has been lengthened, strengthened and fitted up with masts and bandsome cabins. As she lies quietly af anchor in the stream, with her colors flying, she looks decidedly gay and preposessing. Being of such small size, it will be exceedingly difficult for the rebels to touch her. and it the recein may the means to cope with the peculiar and ngit features of this expedi-tion, they will be much farther advanced in military science than they are supposed to be. As a specimen of the arrangements, I can give the organization of the Division Hospital, on ship-board, which, I am sure, will not be con-

I am a constant reader of your valuable

your agricultural columns, and I now underpaper, and it is with pleasure that I now under your agricultural columns, and I now under take to call your attention to probably a new and strange plantcalled Oker. It is probably the Incarect substitute for coffee of anything that grows in the United States. It is a South ern plant. I have seen it growing in Missis-alppi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina. It is a beautiful plant, when in bloom. It grows about four feet in height, and has a large leaf. The pod or boll in which the seed or grain grows comes out of the stalk immediately above each leaf, and grows to the length of six or eight inches, and when green is cooked and served up, and is thought to be the most delicate dish in all the Southern States. When the seed is ripe it is very often browned and used instead of coffee, of which it is hard to perceive the difference. When I emigrated from, North Carollna, my native State, I brought some of the seed among other kind of seeds, and planted them in the spring of 1853, merely to see if they would grow in Christian county, Illinois, and I was astonished to see them grow better and come to as full perfection as in any part of the South; and when they were ripe the pods bursted, and the seed fell out, and I did not save any of them. The next spring I was sur-that they shall be surrous. The soldiers with prised to see them coming up again, for I had thought the cold weather had destroyed them; the same piece of ground every year since I planted it, and this year I cultivated a few stalks and saved the seed. I have no doubt of its coming to perfection anywhere in this State, I shall send you one of the pods with the seed in it, and if you choose to plant it, it should be done as soon as the frost is out of the ground in the spring, and it will grow without much cultivation. If you do not wish to trouble yourself with it, you will please to hand it to some one that will take an interest in such things ?

I see you notice the raising of cotton in this county. It has been cultivated, in small patches, by my neighbors ever since I came to this county. It grows the best on dry, rolling land, and thrives very well here. I am ac quainted with the cultivation of cotton, and I. am sure that if the top bud be cut off about the last week in August, it will very much improve the fibre in length and weight, and there will be no yellow or frost bitten cotton. I am of opinion that there is rather too much rain from the Sangamon valley north for the suc-cessful raising of large crops of cotton. Much rain, while it is in bloom, makes the young bolls fall off. Cotton can be raised by intelligent, free white men better than slave labor will do it, though not quite so cheaply, because white men work as they please, and have to be pald; while slaves work for nothing, and are whipped into doing twice as much work a

I had the honor, as early as 1861, of offering estions to the neo diversification of our great crops of cotton and ugar, the slavery question would find a natuions which this war will cost in fostering the scheme, peace would now reign in our other-wise distraught land. Cotton would never have assumed to be "King." While our own section would have undergone a gradual change, the South would have been forced, in her power in politics as well as in commerce.

I see in a recent dispatch that the Government has determined to send a quantity of cotton seed from Port Royal to the Southern Cossack, one of the largest transports in the fact, formerly running in the line between Boston and St. Johns, N. B., and called the Eastern City, but now owned by the Govern.

Lake Supersor Silver.

The Detroit Tribune says that by a firm of manufacturers of silver ware in that city, some $10,000 worth of goods are turned out every year. The silver used is principally from the lake Surgice where rear. The silver used is principally to take Superior mines, though old, worn out material is also employed, and coin was in times gone by melted down and converted into spoons. The Lake Superior Silver is to spoons. tance. The silver is found in the coppe mines—principally in those belonging to the "Minnesota family"—and the companies allow their miners to keep it. In one yes annually visit the miners, of whom they col-lect the rough silver, giving them their wares in exchange for it. The silver is thus obtain-ed at about half its actual worth and is further that these officers divided their leisure between curring the volunteer soldiers and execrating all acts, resolutions, or votes in Congress adverse to shavery. There has been so much testimony of this kind that Ben Wade, the Chairman of the Committee, be-wace, the unarman or the Committee, be-lieves that there are ledges of the K. G. C. in all our camps on the Fotomac, instituted and patronized by the West Point officers, most of whom were Breckinridge Democrats last written a letter recently, in which he says that if he were to offer an asylum to the negroes at Port Royal he could get at the rate of 5,000 per day. Yet, knowing that the negroes are not employ the effective agency at his disposal, but must needs use violent means to drive them back to the service of their rebel masters. Of course none but disgraceful results are to be Expected from an army commanded by such a general-results whose misery is only rivaled by their expense. It must be said, however, that if the Government keeps such officers as Sherman in command of our armies, after their imbecility has been proved, the responsibility is upon the Government. The qualities of such men as were described by the surgeon on the witness stand to-day, would be army, and they would probably be there if they could not render him more effective service by commanding our troops than by leadmen among the officers of the regular army, but they are only exceptions to the general rule. The great majority of them are less terrible to the enemy than to the country which has educated and support ed them from youth to their present committee will undoubtedly prove. It, i

He intend advancing on Hopkinsville at three different points—on the right from Clinton, on the left from Greenville, and on the front from Mad souville. The late discussion in the House on the disloyalty of certain government employees, discloses the fact that the border State members were convenilly composed both to the turning out.

— The Nashville-Louisville Courier says: a Union officer was arrested at Bowling Gr on the 21st ult., with a spy-glass, making servatious of the different fortifications, servations of the different fortifications, and represented himself as a deserter from the Forty-fifth New York Regiment. He mad his way from the Potomac to Bowling Green and is supposed to belong to Willich's Indian regiment, part to flight a few days since by the Texan Rangers. He will be sent to Richmond.—The bridge over Green river, on the lin of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad which was destroyed by the rebels, was com-

at Philadelphia, it is gratifying to find that a large amount of the gold deposited at the Mint and its branches, was the product of the mines of the United States. From this source was received $34,216,889, out of $116,970,002 in gold, and $610,011, out of $4,634,961 in silver. Much of this domestic silver was obtained by separating it from the gold deposknown about his own opinions in that behalf, and it would be both silly and impolite to hold any controversy with him as to that point. He refers, however, to half a dozen distinguished members as holding the same, or substantially the same, opinions as himself: I sought one of the gentlemen named last-evening and inquired in direct terms what were his riews. He replied, as numbers of others have, that he did not like to see a combined onskught made on one general, while half a dozen others, as had or worse, were alkiwed to go seet free. (This, by the way, is the strongest argument I ever heard Mr. Collax use.) As to the testimony taken by the Van Wyck Committee, he had never seen it, but admitting it to he as bad as possible, his denurrer would hold good, that it was neither manly nor docent to single out an officer for removal and vituperation, while numbers of others were quite as worthy, and probably more worthy, of both. This is not a defense of Fremont, but a method of spreading the charges brought against him over other people as well—to which no right-minded citizen can object, if the same, or equally serious, allegations can be sustained against others, as they undoubtedly can be. For instance, Ball's Bluff was worse calapity than Lexingten, and quide as unnecessary. No such imbedility has been aboven in nines have been discovered in the Territor of Arizona, about one hundred and sixty mi miles from the proposed line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. The ore and its product in silver, as exhibited at the Mint, encourage th belief, Mr. Pollock reports, that "this region will soon rival, in the extent and variety of it mineral productions, the rich mines of Mexiour own country.". For the most part, the cepted meaning, but as applied to the actual manufacture of the precious ores into coins of the realm. In this sense the capacity of the United States Mint, at Philadelphia, is shown by the late report to be equal to an annu coinage of $150,000,000; of eagles, $75,000,000; half-eagles, $87,500,000; quarter-eagles, $18,-750,000; three-dollar-pieces, $22,500,000; gold dollars, $7,500,000. Coining an equal number could annually produce $51,875,000—exclusiwhich $15,000,000 could be annually produc making the capacity of the Mint in gold and silver, of pieces of all denominations, $66,875, 600 per annum; nor in any former year, has this capacity been equalled.

others, as they undoubtedly can be. For mistance, Ball's Bluff was a worse calapily than Lexington, and quite as unnecessary. No such imbeelily has been shown in the Western Department as that which every mail brings accounts of from Port Royal. The transactions of Alexander Cummings, apparently comired at by the Secretary of War, are not a whit better, measured by moral standards, than the frandulent contract with Beard, made "by the special order and direction of Gen. Fremont," for the second lot of fortifications at 8t. Louis. While we do not make fish of one and fiesh of another, let us not assume that this person is exculpated because that one is guilty also! Mr. Colfax will surely, agree to that. The long editorial in the N. I Zrichune, showing that there might have been an excuse for erecting expensive fortifications at 8t. In alluding to the limited appropriations which have been made for the defence of that State, he remarks:

Since Maine became a member of the federal Union in 1820, and although she was at that time substantially destitute of fortifications, the appropriations of the federal government for her coast protection have been less than half the amount that was expended within ten years for the building of a custom house in the single city of Charleston.

We have now the most indubitable proof of the deep and bitter hostility to this country of the people of New Brunswick and Canada. In view of the present stitude of the British nation toward the United States, the fact will not escape attention that while the defenses of our State upon the seaboard have been so strangely neglected, and not a dollar has been expended for her protection on her extended. of the Ogden Skatine Pond, The managers of the Ogden Skating Pond give a grand carnival, this evening, upon the ice. The Light Guard Band will be present on this occasion, and a merry time is anticipated. Good ice, good music, and good company are certainly strong inducements, and we have no doubt the pond will be crowded.

FIRE.-The alarm of fire last night, about 11 o'clock, was occasioned by the partial burn-ing of the extensive clothing establishment of Isaac Marks, occupying five stories of the building, No. 187 Lake street. The stock was valued at about $15,000, and was largely dam-aged by water. The exact amount of loss could not be sacertained. The origin of the fire is a mystery. ANOTHER INJUNCTION UPON THE IMPROVE

MENT OF DEARBORN STREET.—The city meets with most determined opposition from the owners of property on Dearborn street, against the proposed widening of that thor-oughfare from Madison street to the Custom House building. Another injunction was served upon the Board of Fublic Works, by Melville W. Fuller and his wife, issued from ANOTHER COUNTERFEITER CAUCHT .- A conferate of the truce men, McCarty and Stone, med Geo. Williams, a sallor, was arrested the Police of the Third District, Monday by the Police of the Third District, Monday nightat about nine o'clock, and lodged in jail. This is supposed to be the last of the gang lately successfully employed in flooding the city with the frandulent "fives" on the State Bank of Iowa alluded to and described in these columns on Monday afternoon. The examination of the three men now in custody will take place at the Recorder's Court Room his afternoon at two o'clock.

The durfernseter's Department was established in this city last summer under the charge of Capt. Turnley. He held the position but a month. The business was then comparatively small and one man could easily attend to the duties. The late lamented Col. Webb, at that time a Captain in the U. S. 16th. Infantry. Judge Deummond ordered the writ to be issued, returnable to-day.

MARRIED—In this city, by the Rev. Mr. Adler, in the Jewish Temple, Mr. Natson Mozaus and Miss Sazau Vocaus, both of this city. Mr. Morris is a well-known and highly respected cattle dealer, and on the occasion of his marriage, he invited a large number of his friends to a most sumptuous wedding party, yesterday evening, at the Metropolitan Hall, where about two hundred guests were assembled, and where a fine band of music, and an -and his fair bride, had the hearty and ungrodgingly farnishing articles of com-fort, and even of comparative luxury, for the soldier in the field, in the camp, and in the hospital. The fulfilment of the objects of these benevolent organizations slubply requir a main depot, the presence of a few faith clerks to receipt for the articles, a few publ spirited wemen to arrange the contribution spirited women to arrange the contributions, and coapetent officers, upon whose judgment the community may rely for their prompt shipment to proper destinations. In these transactions there are no arennes to corruption; there are no contracts to let to swindlers and speculators; no bonuses to be received, except of gratitude; no large sums of money to be handled. These organizations furnish the free-will contributions of the people, and with their operations the public is ple, and with their operations the public is While thus the people are so well repres e d, it is a matter of the nimost importance the the people should know bow the Government is represented in its supplies to our troop and this leads us to the United States Quarte master's office, its employees, its operations, and its results. Here are the avenues of fraud and peculation; here is the locality where immense sums of money change hands; here is where the contracts are made for supplying our troops with the equipments and necessa-ries of war, and yet so quietly and unostentationsly is this immense business transacted that one is scarcely aware such an institution

Infantry, Major Slemmer commanding, relievand analy, and or stemmer communing, renev-ed Capt, Turnley. With the rapid organization of new regiments and the imparetive and fre-quent demands for subeistence, equipments and ordusance, the business of the department and ordinance, the business of the department increased proportionately, and Col. Webb was at once Quartermaster, Commissary, ordnance recruiting and mustering officer. The duties were too onerous and a proper fulfilment of them was impossible. Capt. Webb applied to the Quartermaster's Department to relieve him. The change was an important one, and the Department held the matter in reservation several weeks and finally settled upon Capt. J. A. Potter, as Quartermaster and ordnance officer, Lieut. Christopher receiving the appointment of Commissary of Subaistehee-aud mustering officer.

ence-and mustering officer. Capt. Potter was at that time on the civil list of the Topographical Bureau as a civil en-gineer, and for twenty years had served in that capacity, making Detroit his headquarters found matters in almost inextricable confusion, as might have been expected from the nature and extent of the duties which had devolved on his predecessor. Capt. Potter at once commenced his duties with characteristic energy and determination, and the accounts and papers of the Department were soon, in order. His excellent business management externative and properly arranged. agement systematized and properly arranged the duties of the office and from that day to this, he has not been absent from his post a moment.

One can hardly appreciate the immense bus where about two hundred guests were assembled, and where a fine band of music, and an abundance of the good things of this life, aided in making one of the gayest and haplest parties of the season. Mr. Morris, who has risen by honest industry to his present position—and his fair bride, had the hearty filling a requisition for miscellaneous supplies for Leavenworth, Kansas, embracing almost every conceivable article needed in camp, from a portable saw mill on wheels to tenpenny nails. From sixty to one hundred letters DENEM'S SOCIETY.—The annual meeting and election of officers of this Society, took place last evening. Mr. Bragdon, the retiring President, delivered an address sfull of practical counsels, to the Society. The election results from privates wanting back pay and corporals from privates wanting back pay and corporals blanks must be filled out, and at the end of each quarter fifty three blanks, stating defi-nitely and in detail, every item of expendi-ture from clerk hire upwards—how it has been expended, at what time, and for what purpose. To accomplish these duties, Capt. Potter employs but three cierks, a storekeeper and laborers as the emergency may require.

Every want of the regiment is here supplied. The Paymaster's funds pass through his hands. The contracts for subsistence must be made by him before the Commissary furwas an increase of thirty-three marriages in 1861 and 1860. Since 1853 there have been 17,boots and shoes—everything, in fact, required for the field, the camp and the garrison, must be furnished by the Quariermaster, upon requisition. For this purpose, a warehouse has been established in Robbins' Block, corper of Wells and South Water streets, and is at present stocked with over $300,000 worth of these articles.

The immensity of the business may be in-ferred from the fact that during the past three mouths Capt. Potter has disbursed between eight and nine hundred thousand dollars. During the past month alone, he has supplied in the alcinity of 8,000 overcoats, 34,000 bushels of pats, 1,000 tons of hay, and over 2,000 cords of wood. At present he is filling a rethe tune of $40 or more per horse. In this manner thousands of dollars are saved for the Government, and indirectly of course for the people. Speculators meet with little sympathy at his hards.

The above will give the reader a general idea of the U. S. Quartermaster's Department, its duties, the character of its business, the method in which it is carried on, and the amounts of disbursement.

Our citizens and the Government are to be congratulated that so economical and praisoworthy an institution in these days exists, and especially that it exists in Chicago.

white mainty regiment, and processly the Lead Mine regiment, all at Camp Douglas, have also been chosen. As Gen. Lane does not intend to conquer a place but once, will not be hampered with instructions, and proposes to be at New Orleans in April next, it is a matter of congratulation that so many of our finest regiments have been honored with a selection. The particulars of the expedition will be found in another part of this paper, and will be read with interest by all.
